Giuseppe Vajra Presents the Wines of G.D.
Vajra Winery,
Piemonte, Italy

The wines of the modern G.D. Vajra estate have been garnering much attention lately. Located in the highest village of Barolo, the winery is run by Aldo and Milena, with the help of their children. At heights of 350 to 400 meters, the grapes ripen later than the surrounding vineyards allowing them a distinctive, elegant reflection of their sublime terroir. Having gradually grown to 40 hectares under vine, the winery boasts 10 different bottlings ranging from semi-sweet sparkling wines made from Moscato, to their single vineyard Barolos; the winery is truly diversified.
